

The Arbiter Strikes

The first test of The Arbiter has taken place.

You were challenged to watch the screens around school and identify exactly how many cups appeared on screen. Simple? Perhaps. But the Arbiter was watching, and every response counted.

Sagarmatha and Makalu produced the most correct responses, tying for first place and splitting the 100 House Points between them. Annapurna finished with the fewest correct responses and paid the price: –50 House Points.

But remember: you cannot win if you do not enter. The more members of your House who take part, the greater your chance of getting the correct answer and pushing your House towards victory. One response might make the difference.

And this was only a test.

Before the end of this month, The Arbiter will strike again. This time, the stakes will be higher, the challenge will be larger...and there will be nowhere to hide.

MYTHBUSTER COMPETITION

Think you know what's true and what's nonsense? Now's your chance to find out!

Choose a myth, rumour or popular belief and research the evidence to see if you can bust it! Is it actually true, completely false, or somewhere in between? Present your findings in an interesting and convincing way and show us the truth behind the myth.

Entries to: Competitions@stockport-academy.org or dropped off to room 102!
